ALBANY, Sept. 24.-Jacob H. Schiff took the witness stand this afternoon at the impeachment trial of William Sulzer and swore he had contributed $2,500 to the campaign fund last fall. He declared that Sulzer had gone to his office, asked if he would contribute and pleaded for more when the banker mentioned the amount he would give.

Schiff's testimony tended to knock out one of the principal charges shaw. Murray made a great eatch of against Gov. Sulzer by declaring the Governor was free to use the money Stengel's tiner to right. No Runs. for whatever purpose he desired. Banker Morganthau also said there Doyle flied out to Stengel in right cenwas no string to his $1,000 contribution.

"Call the witnesses," ordered Judge Cullen and the great trial was on, but without the presence of the one man most concerned-William Sulzer-Impeached and temporarily deposed Governor of New York State.

Behind the Board of Managers at the afternoon session assembled a notable array of witnesses, headed by Jacob H. Schiff, multi-millionaire banker and contributor to Sulzer campaign funds. With him were Henry Morgenthau, Treasurer of the Democratic Committee, and Abram I. Elkus.

The first witnesses called were Mitchell May, Secretary of State, and George Van Namee, Clerk of the Assembly, who were called upon to identify formal preliminary documents relating to the section and induction into office of Mam Sulzer, likewise the record of hehment proceedings in the Legis-
